Well, not the best way to start the day!
Sometimes I really wish that I was the shy bookworm from Chapel everyone thinks I am!
the Boys from Montpellier Hill would be laughing into thier whiskey if they could see me hanging here trying not to get eaten by these Godforesaken Prehistoric wee Beasties!

Well I can't hang round here all day!
Looks like this swinging Gal...
... needs to act like 'Tarzans' Jane, and wing my way out of this lunch party!

OK then dearies! now that I'm out of that particular hole!
Now I just have to get back on track and find that Temple...
But I'v lost my Bag and tools!
and I still need to try and avoid that happy little band of head-hunters who want to add my skull to their little collection ahhh... darn it!

Just great... Trust me to upset a whole tribe of Head-Hunters with noses like Bloodhounds!
I just hope that I'm close enough to the temple to scare them off!
I was right!
At least something has gone my way!

Ok so one lost bag, a tribe of homicidal head-hunters and a pit full of ravenous flesh eating angry worms...
and finally i'm here!
Tai Pu Pechu
The Temple of the Eagles!

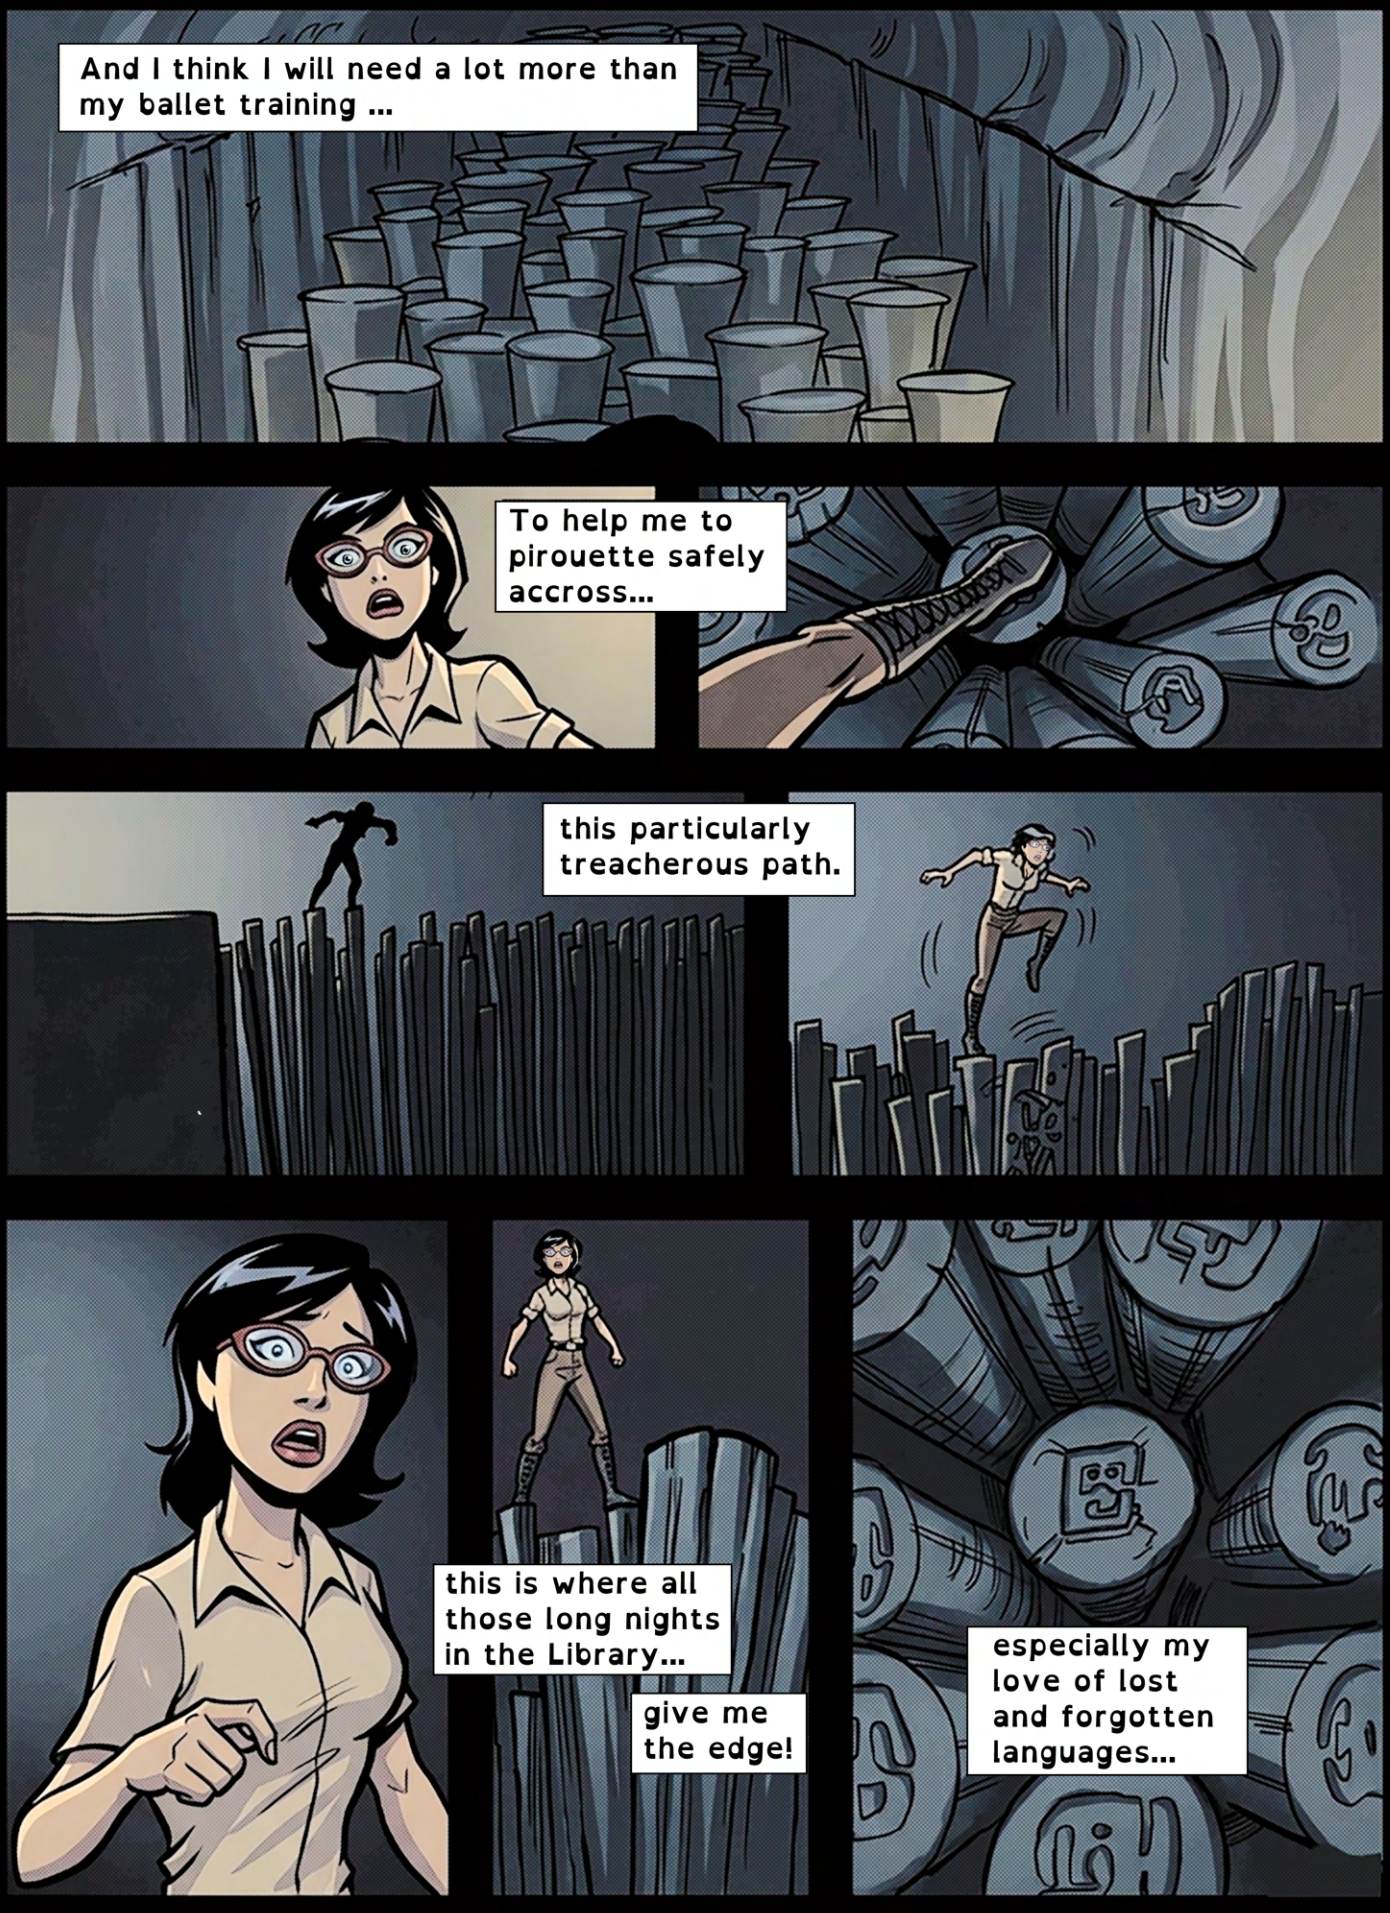

Now all I have to do is find my way into the deep-temple
So I had best find a torch!
And Shed some light on things...
Exactly what I was expecting, a long creepy old passage!
I just hope there are no active....
CLICK!

Booby traps!
I hate...
I really hate...
Booby traps!
... and Guns!

So add two big goons with guns, to the list of pains in my cute little dimple-butt on this adventure.
unfortunately for me...
This pair of foul smelling goons...
are very familiar!
As is their unsavory and arrogant pig of a boss...

Commander Heinriech Inkermann of the Ahnenebe Society
Adolph Hitlers favorite little pet Adventurer
the man responsible for my greatest, most painful loss!
Inkermann is used to getting anything that he wants, regardless of the cost even the cost in life!
He is a true degenerate!

And I have just walked right into his well greased trap!
after all...
...why risk your own soldiers when you have a convienient lamb to the slaughter
Someone to risk life and limb to get you the pot of gold at the end of the booby trapped rainbow!

And I think I will need a lot more than my ballet training ...
To help me to pirouette safely accross...
this particularly treacherous path.
this is where all those long nights in the Library...
give me the edge!
especially my love of lost and forgotten languages...

Quechua Aymara Guarani Or Nahuatl
Quechua Aymara Guarani Or Nahuatl
Of course! a derivitive of the Aymar
If it wasn't for the guns pointed at my head, I would laugh at what a geek I am!
so here we are at the end of the rainbow...

So it should be simple from here on in, right?
Yeah, simple...
Remember that list?
well you'd better add one unhappy anaconda

Fortunately I dont scare so easily!
Unless its Spiders!
I really can't stand spiders with their long hairy legs!
I'm just relieved Inkerman didn't check under my shirt ...!
if he'd checked, then I wouldn't have my trusty hunting knife...

And this...
May have Turned out very Differently.
so now the prize!
A sun disc!

I wonder what that old Dog wants with this particular little peice of history!
knowing his Chubby Masters taste for Occult objects and the stories coming out of Germany, I'd bet the farm its not for anything good i cant let him get hold of it. now where did that Snake come from Ahh... Bingo!
What delicious irony! the snakes entrance offers a quick exit!
...And an opprtunity to stick my 2 fingers -up, Churchill style, right at inkerman and his nasty little feurherr!

That is, if he doesn't manage to blow my brains out first
Well he obviously didn't attain his rank for being a good marksman! My Uncle Seamus is a better shot, and he only has one Good Eye!

Now to put as much distance as I can... between Inkermanns goons, guns, and my sweet curvy body!

And just like that, my luck changes for the better!

If I head down river I should reach that old colonial outpost.

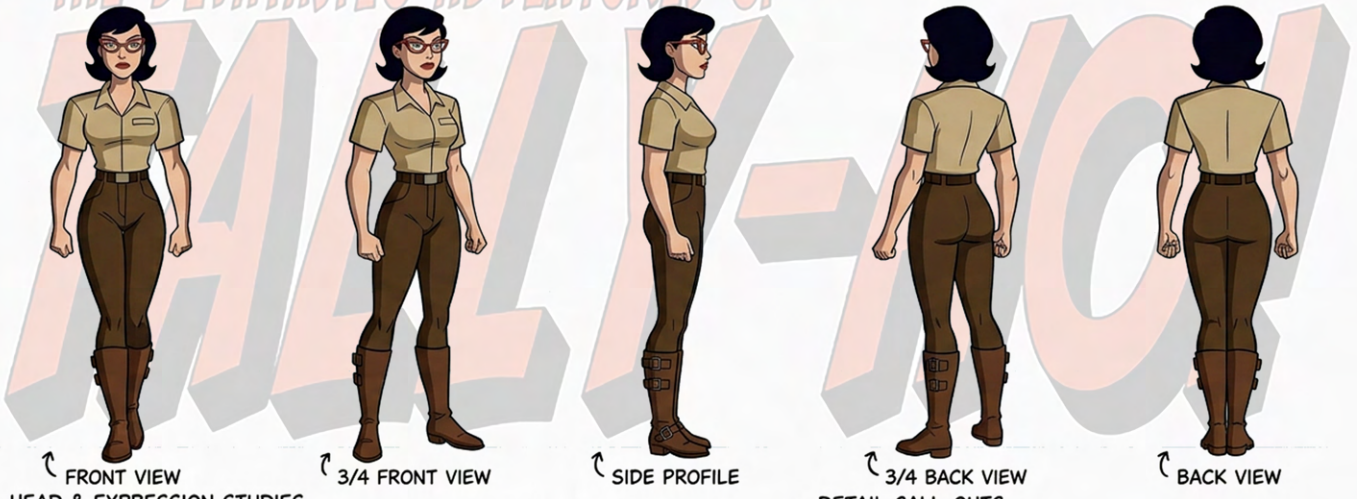

Maybe one days Journey and a Steamboat to Fort Lauderdale, then onward to Dublin and the institute

I know of a certain Professor Conroy who will have a lot to say about this artifact.
